

A Tiny Space
Traveler

Way up high, higher than the tallest skyscraper and above the clouds,
there are the planets.
Mars, Venus, Mercury, Earth,
Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus and Neptune.

"If there was a new planet, we would have found it by now"
said Uranus.

"Look!" Mars shouted. They all pointed and laughed except for Saturn. "I wonder what his name is?"

Earth is shaking.

There is a message.

Attention, Attention!!

The scientists have discovered a new planet!

"If there was a new planet, we would have found it by now" said Uranus.

"Look!" Mars shouted. "I found it!" They all pointed and laughed except for Saturn. Saturn asked, "I wonder what his name is?" I am going to go talk to him."

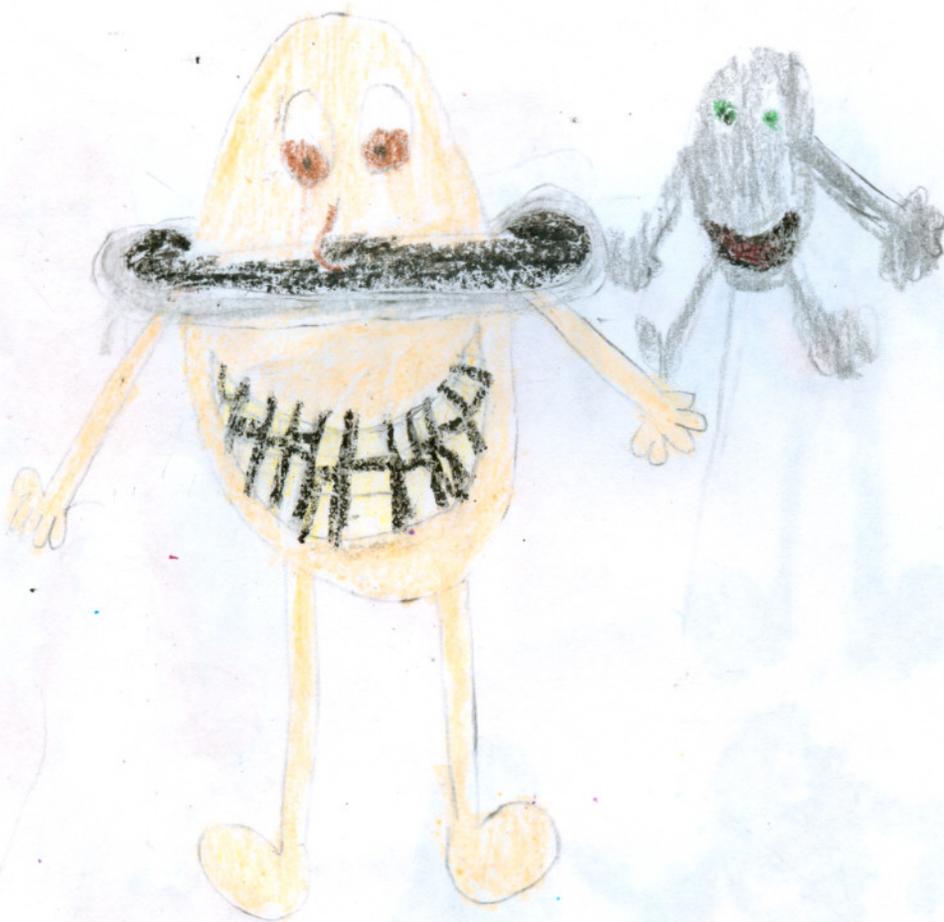

They all laughed at Saturn.

"He is tiny," explained Jupiter.

Saturn went to talk to him anyway. When he came back,
he told them his name is Pluto.

"That's a funny name," said Neptune.

They all agreed except for Saturn.

Saturn and Pluto became best friends. Saturn had only 1 friend now. Soon it got boring for the other planets. They couldn't slide on Saturn's rings or anything. Venus and Mercury decided to say "Sorry" to Pluto and be friends with both of them. Pretty soon the other planets came too. After that, they were all friends again and no one teased or made fun of Pluto again.

